DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-8, 10-13 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Buckley (U.S. 4,137,964).

Buckley discloses a controllable heat transmission apparatus comprising all of the applicant's claimed and disclosed limitations of the instead invention.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Art Unit: 3743

4. Claims 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cao et al. (U.S. 6,684,941).

Cao discloses a reciprocating driven heat loop apparatus comprising all of the applicant's claimed and disclosed limitations of the instead invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 9 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Buckley (U.S. 4,137,964) in view of Smith et al. (U.S. 6,247,525).

Buckley's invention discloses all of the claimed limitations from above except for a recess as a nucleus for bubble formation located in at least one terminal portion; and wherein the driving heat exchangers include a Peltier element and the terminal portions of the container are joined to each other via the Peltier element.

7. However, Smith teaches a recesses (46) as a nucleus for bubble formation located in at least one terminal portion; and wherein the driving heat exchangers include a Peltier element (39) and the terminal portions of the container are joined to each other via the Peltier element.

Given the teachings of Smith, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the controllable heat transmission apparatus of Buckley with a recess as a nucleus for bubble formation located in at least one terminal portion; and wherein the driving heat exchangers include a Peltier element and the terminal portions of the container are joined to each other via the Peltier element.

Doing so would provide a thermally efficient means of producing heat transfer.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 12 and 13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following references are cited for disclosing related limitations of the applicant's claimed and disclosed invention. Edeldman et al, Tsenter (2 Patents), Weislogel, Van Brocklin et al, Okayasu, Shlosinger, Coleman et al, Wyatt and Arcella.
